NEWS RELEASE

Adastra Commences Legal Proceedings Against Endiama

Trading: TSE:AMZ and AIM:AAA

LONDON, U.K. (September 21, 2004) - Adastra Minerals Inc. ("Adastra") today announced that its wholly owned subsidiary IDAS Resources N.V. ("IDAS") is commencing legal proceedings in the United States against Empresa Nacional de Diamantes de Angola ("Endiama"), the state owned diamond company in Angola.

IDAS and Endiama signed agreements in August 2002 and December 2002 for diamond exploration and exploitation in the Luremo area of Angola. These agreements followed the receipt in October 2001 of the Council of Ministers' confirmation of two licences awarded to Endiama with licence rights to be exercised through a joint venture of Endiama and IDAS.

"Despite agreed detailed commercial terms and fully drafted documentation, we have been totally frustrated in our attempts to progress matters further and Endiama has made it clear that it has repudiated its contractual obligations. This has left IDAS with no choice but to seek legal redress. We have been advised that we have a very strong case," said Tim Read, President and Chief Executive Officer of Adastra.

Mr Read concluded, "This is a disappointing situation in respect of Adastra's rights; however it will not be allowed to divert the company from its principal focus of bringing the Kolwezi Tailings Project into production."

About Adastra

Adastra Minerals is an international mining company listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol "AMZ" and on the Alternative Investment Market of the London Stock Exchange under the symbol "AAA". The company has several mineral assets in Central Africa, including the Kolwezi cobalt/copper tailings project and the Kipushi zinc mine in the DRC, and the Cuango River diamond project in Angola. Adastra's growth strategy emphasizes the creation of shareholder value through the development of world-class resources in stable or stabilizing political environments.

About Cuango River Diamond Project

The Cuango Basin has historically been one of the most prolific sources of diamonds in Angola. The Cuango floodplain licence is an irregular polygonal shaped area running along 50 kilometres of the river Cuango north to the border with the Democratic Republic of Congo. The licence is for exploration of both alluvial and primary diamond sources. The second smaller area, of about 300 sq km, runs along the southern border of the Cuango floodplain licence and is called the Camutue licence. This is a mining licence and covers areas of historic production.
